Petition to the District Supreme Court Complicates Affair.

Members of School Board Express Themselves on the Subject.

Probable Outcome is Being Awaited With Much

"To be or not to be:" This is the mooted question which now confronts the Board of Education brought about by the filing of a petition in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Cardozo's Wood was anxious to send the animals Supreme Court yesterday by Cardozo's attorney and served upon the board just as it convened in adjourned session to hear charges preferred against him by hear charges preferred against him by the superintendent and assistant superintendent of the District schools.

This temporary halt in proceedings was received with varying degrees of superise, indignation, and chagrin on the part of respective board members. In his petition, the text of which was printed in The Times yesterday afternoon, Cardozo alleges that the board is without authority to try him; that the very appointment of the board itself by receiving a facility of multiplying itself by splitting in two lengthwise. Incidentally, the the Supreme Court judges is illegal and that the act of Congress approved June 20, 1906, providing for such a board and method of appointment is unconstituted in the medium of files. Captain Oyster Disapproves.
Captain Oyster was quite emphatic in expressing his disapproval of the Cardozo petition, which he believed was filed primarily for further delay. He expressed himself as being much surprised that Attorney Davis should have taken this step, after saying to the board when it adjourned last Wednesday that his side would be ready to proceed without delay on Saturday afternoon.
